Theme of the 97th May Festival

The 97th May Festival
Droplets Meet to Form the Ripple

— Droplets Meet to Form the Ripple

I am a droplet
You too are a droplet

One after another
Droplets jump into the water
Drawing a circle in their very own way

Circles overlap and come together
Creating a momentaneous pattern

You and I come across in the festival
Where droplets meet to form the ripple

About the theme

A water surface, still and quiet.

One drop would create a pattern.

One more drop, a different pattern.

The patterns meet to show a new face: ripple.

Droplets blend in to become ripples,
getting complex and never the same.

We projected the festival onto the water surface.

People walking different paths come together on campus, bringing inspiration and creation.

We call the intricate pattern created by this fusion a “festival.”

I am a droplet. You too are a droplet.
Come on in, droplets big and small to the surface where we meet.
